OUR FOREIGN TRADE IN AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS, 1891-1900.

TRADE OF 1900.

The fiscal year 1900 brought to a close a century of marvelous development in the history of United States commerce. In 1800, a century ago, the total value of the merchandise imported and exported in our trade with foreign countries was considerably less than a quarter of a billion dollars. The value of the goods exchanged during the past fiscal year reached nearly two and a quarter billions, far exceeding all previous records. Since the opening of the century our commerce with the rest of the world has increased more than twelvefold.

It was chiefly in the export trade that the enormous growth of the century occurred. Our domestic exports during 1900, with a recorded value of $1,370,763,571, were over forty times as large as in 1800. The total imports for 1900, on the other hand, amounting in value to $849,941,184, were less than ten times as large as in 1800.

Compared with the value of our imports for 1900, that of our domestic exports showed an excess of $520,822,387.

AGRICULTURAL IMPORTS.

Of the merchandise imported from foreign countries during the fiscal year 1900, about 49 per cent consisted of agricultural products. These products had an aggregate value of $420,139,288, exceeding by almost $65,000,000 the record of the year before. Hides, silk, and wool were the leading factors in the growth, although vegetable fibers, sugar, and tobacco also showed important gains. The six items mentioned contributed nearly $60,000,000 to the increase in value.

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS.

Products of United States agriculture were marketed abroad in the fiscal year 1900 to the value of $844,616,530, forming about 62 per cent of the total domestic exports. With the single exception of 1898, the past year witnessed the largest annual export trade in farm produce on record. The value attained came within $15,000,000 of the phenomenal figures for 1898, and surpassed those for 1899 by more than $50,000,000. A considerable portion of the increase over 1899 was accounted for by the higher price of cotton. The exports of this great staple, although actually smaller than during the preceding year, exhibited an advance of nearly $33,000,000 in value. Aside from cotton, the largest gains in value were those afforded by the exports of meat products and live stock. Tobacco, fruits and nuts, vegetable oils, oil cake and oil cake-meal, seeds, and dairy products also furnished examples of increase.

A comparison of the value of our agricultural exports for 1900 with that of our agricultural imports shows that the former exceeded the latter by $424,477,242. The export value was slightly more than double the amount of the import value.

SUMMARY STATEMENT OF IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

The extent to which the imports and exports of the United States consisted of products of agriculture, and the excess of agricultural exports over agricultural imports, during each fiscal year from 1891 to 1900, inclusive, will be seen from the official¹ statistics presented in the following summary statement:

LEADING AGRICULTURAL IMPORTS.

Among the agricultural imports of the United States for the fiscal year 1900, the leading items, named in the order of value, were sugar, hides and skins, coffee, silk, vegetable fibers, wool, fruits and nuts, ¹The statistics of importation and exportation given in the present bulletin are based on the official returns of trade published annually by the Bureau of Statistics, United States Treasury Department.

tobacco, tea, wines, vegetable oils, and cocoa. These twelve items comprised in value nearly 90 per cent of our entire import trade in the products of foreign agriculture during the year mentioned.

SUGAR.

Our imports of sugar during 1900 amounted to 4,018,086,530 pounds, showing an increase of 37,835,961 pounds over the quantity imported during the preceding year, which was recorded at 3,980,250,569 pounds. In the total value of the imports there was a gain of $5,286,854, the record for 1900 being $100,250,974, as compared with $94,964,120 for 1899. The average annual import price of the sugar received from abroad during the two years mentioned increased from 2.4 cents to 2.5 cents per pound.

HIDES AND SKINS.

Of hides and skins we imported during 1900 345,934,778 pounds, or 78,844,028 pounds more than in the preceding year, when our total imports amounted to only 267,090,750 pounds. The sum paid for these imports increased meanwhile from $41,988,043 to $57,935,698, a gain of $15,947,655. In the average yearly import price per pound there was an advance from 15.7 cents to 16.7 cents.

Goatskins.—Goatskins were imported during 1900 to the extent of 81,998,818 pounds, valued at $21,987,674, while in 1899 the imports amounted to only 69,728,945 pounds, valued at $18,488,326. There was a gain of 12,269,873 pounds in quantity and $3,499,348 in value. The average import price for 1900 was 26.8 cents per pound, as compared with 26.5 cents per pound for 1899.

Hides of cattle.—The amount of cattle hides imported during 1900 was 163,865,165 pounds, and the value $19,408,217. This was a gain of 33,469,145 pounds in quantity and $5,786,271 in value over the imports for 1899, which were recorded at 130,396,020 pounds, worth $13,621,946. In the average annual import price per pound there was an advance from 10.4 cents to 11.8 cents.

COFFEE.

Our imports of coffee during 1900 were smaller by 43,835,152 pounds than in 1899, the total amount purchased declining from 831,827,063 pounds to 787,991,911 pounds. In value there was a decrease from $55,275,470 to $52,467,943, making a loss of $2,807,527. The import price per pound averaged 6.6 cents for 1899 and 6.7 cents for 1900.

SILK.

In the importation of silk there was an increase from 11,250,383 pounds, worth $32,479,627, during 1899 to 13,073,718 pounds, worth $45,329,760, during 1900. The gain in quantity amounted to 1,823,335 pounds and that in value to $12,850,133. A marked advance in the average annual price, which rose from $2.89 to $3.47 per pound, was largely accountable for the heavy increase in value.

VEGETABLE FIBERS.

The vegetable fibers imported during 1900 had a total value of $34,334,750, or $9,021,511 in excess of the figures for 1899, which were recorded at $25,313,239. Chief among the fibers imported were sisal grass, cotton, and Manila hemp.

Sisal grass.—Of sisal grass we imported in 1900 76,921 tons, worth $11,782,263, as compared with 71,898 tons, worth $9,211,377, in 1899. There was an increase of 5,023 tons in quantity and $2,570,886 in value. The average annual import price advanced from $128.12 to $153.17 a ton.

Cotton.—Our imports of foreign cotton increased from 50,158,158 pounds, valued at $5,013,146, in 1899 to 67,398,521 pounds, valued at $7,960,945, in 1900, showing a gain of 17,240,363 pounds as regards quantity and of $2,947,799 as regards value. The average import price per pound showed an advance from 10 cents in the former year to 11.8 cents in the latter. Egyptian cotton formed the principal part of the imports.

Manila hemp.—The quantity of Manila hemp imported during the past year was 42,624 tons, or 10,571 tons less than the imports for 1899, which were recorded at 53,195 tons. Owing to an increase from $116.77 to $168.27 per ton in the average annual import price, however, the total value of the importations was $960,893 larger for 1900 than for the year before, the value records of the two years showing an advance from $6,211,475 to $7,172,368.

WOOL.

Our imports of wool for 1900, amounting to 155,928,455 pounds, were the largest recorded since the exceptionally heavy importations in 1897, when our receipts of this fiber from abroad reached as high as 350,852,026 pounds, having a value of $53,243,191. As compared with the quantity imported during 1899, returned at 76,736,209 pounds, the imports for the past year show a gain of 79,192,246 pounds, or over 100 per cent. The value of the imports for 1900 amounted to $20,260,936, or $11,938,039 in excess of the value for 1899, which was recorded at only $8,322,897. The marked increase in value was due partly to the fact that in 1900 the average annual import price rose to 13 cents per pound, as compared with only 10.8 cents per pound for the year preceding.

FRUITS AND NUTS.

During 1900 fruits and nuts were imported to the value of $19,263,592, this sum exceeding by $949,386 the figures for 1899, recorded at $18,314,206. Of fruits alone, which formed the principal part of this item, there were imports valued at $15,586,664 for 1899 and $16,284,758 for 1900, the increase amounting to $698,094. Bananas and lemons were the leading varieties imported.

Bananas.—The value of our banana imports for 1900 amounted to $5,877,835, or $212,247 in excess of the 1899 figures, which were stated at $5,665,588. No statistics were returned as to the quantity of the imports.

Lemons.—Of lemons we imported 160,198,056 pounds, valued at $3,666,881, in 1900, as against 225,946,718 pounds, valued $4,398,004, in 1899. There was a falling off of 65,748,662 pounds in quantity and $731,123 in value. The average import price per pound advanced during the two years from 1.9 cents to 2.3 cents.

TOBACCO.

Our imports of tobacco for 1900 were recorded at 19,619,627 pounds, worth $13,297,223. There was a gain in quantity of 5,583,798 pounds and in value one of $3,396,970 over the imports for 1899, which amounted to 14,035,829 pounds, worth $9,900,253. The average annual import price per pound declined from 70.5 cents to 67.8 cents.

TEA.

The imports of tea were 10,755,208 pounds larger in 1900 than in 1899, our purchases having increased from 74,089,899 pounds to 84,845,107 pounds. Meanwhile the total value of the imports advanced from $9,675,081 to $10,558,110, showing a gain of $883,029. In the average annual import price there was a decline from 13.1 cents to 12.4 cents per pound.

WINES.

Wines were imported into the United States during 1900 to the value of $7,421,495, as compared with $6,590,206 during the year before. The increase amounted to $831,289.

VEGETABLE OILS.

Of vegetable oils there were imports in 1900 worth $6,320,711, or $1,020,947 above the value for 1899, which was recorded at $5,300,664.

COCOA.

Our imports of cocoa increased from 36,438,583 pounds, worth $5,360,116, during 1899, to 42,759,240 pounds, worth $5,970,844, during 1900, showing a gain of 6,320,657 pounds in quantity and in value one of $610,728. The import price per pound averaged 14.7 cents for 1899 and 14 cents for 1900.

TABLE OF LEADING AGRICULTURAL IMPORTS.

In the subjoined table are enumerated in the order of their importance such of the agricultural imports for 1900 as had a valuation exceeding $1,000,000, together with statistics exhibiting the quantity and value of each item, and the amount of increase or decrease as compared with the records of the year preceding. The list includes 31 items, and of these 24 show an increase in value for 1900, while 7 show a decrease. The table is as follows:

LEADING AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS.

In 1900, as in previous years, breadstuffs, cotton, and meat products formed the most important part of our agricultural export trade. After these three leading items, the principal exports were live animals, tobacco, oil cake and oil-cake meal, vegetable oils, fruits and nuts, dairy products, and seeds. Measured in value, the 10 items mentioned comprised over 95 per cent of our total exports of farm produce during 1900.

The following table shows the value of each of these 10 items in 1899 and 1900, with the amount of increase or decrease for 1900:

Agricultural exports (domestic) of the United States for 1899 and 1900, arranged by leading groups, with amount of increase or decrease in 1900.

BREADSTUFFS.

Our exports of breadstuffs during 1900, although far exceeding in value the average for preceding years, show a noticeable falling off compared with the exceptionally heavy shipments of 1898 and 1899. The exports for 1898, amounting in value to $333,897,119, were by far the largest on record. In 1899 the export trade amounted to $273,999,699, this value being in excess of any previously reported, except that just mentioned for 1898 and a record of $299,363,117 attained in 1892. The shipments during 1900 were valued at $262,744,078, or $11,255,621 less than the figures returned for 1899.

As in the preceding year, the decline in the export value of breadstuffs recorded for 1900 was traceable chiefly to a falling off in the shipments of wheat. Accompanying the decline in wheat shipments there was a further marked increase in the exports of corn, and for the first time in the history of the trade the total export value of corn exceeded that of wheat.

Indian corn.—In both quantity and value our exports of Indian corn for 1900 were the largest ever reported, amounting to 209,348,284 bushels, worth $85,206,400. Compared with the shipments for 1899, which were recorded at 174,089,094 bushels, worth $68,977,448, the 1900 exports were greater in quantity by 35,259,190 bushels and in value by $16,228,952. The average annual export price per bushel showed a slight increase for 1900, the quotation for that year being 40.7 cents as against 39.6 cents for 1899.

Wheat.—During 1900 we shipped to foreign markets 101,950,389 bushels of wheat, the total value being $73,237,080. As compared with the exports for 1899, which amounted to 139,432,815 bushels, worth $104,269,169, these shipments exhibit a falling off of 37,482,426 bushels in quantity and $31,032,089 in value. The export price for 1900 averaged 71.8 cents per bushel, or just 3 cents lower than the price of the year preceding, which was recorded at 74.8 cents per bushel.

Wheat flour.—Although the year 1900 witnessed a decline in our shipments of wheat, there was a slight increase in the amount of wheat flour sent abroad, the exports of this product amounting to 18,699,194 barrels, as compared with 18,485,690 barrels in 1899. This was a gain of 213,504 barrels. Owing, however, to a material decline in the average export price, which dropped from $3.95 per barrel during 1899 to $3.62 per barrel during 1900, the total value of the exports suffered a considerable decrease, falling during the two years from $73,093,870 to $67,760,886, the loss being $5,332,984.

The wheat flour exports of 1899, converted into their equivalent in grain, were equal to 83,185,605 bushels of wheat, and, similarly, the wheat flour exports of 1900 were equal to 84,146,373 bushels of wheat. In the former year the combined exports of wheat and wheat flour amounted to 222,618,420 bushels of grain, and in the latter year to 186,096,762 bushels of grain, exhibiting for 1900 a total falling off of 36,521,658 bushels as compared with 1899. The combined value of the wheat and wheat flour exports, amounting to $177,363,039 in 1899 and $140,997,966 in 1900, showed a decline of $36,365,073.

Oats.—In the exportation of oats there was a considerable growth during 1900, the shipments for that year amounting to 41,369,415 bushels, worth $12,504,654, as compared with 30,309,778 bushels, worth $9,787,540, for the year preceding. The gain in quantity amounted to 11,059,637 bushels, and that in value to $2,717,114. In the average annual export price there was a decline from 32.3 cents to 30.2 cents per bushel.

Barley.—During 1900 barley was exported more extensively than in any previous year, the total shipments reaching as high as 23,661,662 bushels, worth $11,216,694. The largest previous exports occurred in 1897, when 20,030,301 bushels, worth $7,646,384, were marketed abroad. In the following year, 1898, the exports declined to 11,237,077 bushels, with a value of $5,542,040, and in 1899 a still further decrease was recorded, the shipments for that year falling as low as 2,267,403 bushels, with a value of $1,375,274. As compared with the 1899 figures the record for 1900 shows an increase of 21,394,259 bushels in quantity and $9,841,420 in value. The average annual export price per bushel fell during the last two years from 60.7 cents to 47.4 cents.

Rye.—Concurrent with the increase in barley exports there was a marked falling off during 1900 in the amount of rye sent to foreign countries. Our shipments of rye for that year amounted to only 2,355,792 bushels, worth $1,442,055, as against 10,140,866 bushels, worth $5,936,078, for 1899. There was a decrease of 7,785,074 bushels in quantity and $4,494,023 in value. An increase from 58.5 cents to 61.2 cents per bushel occurred in the average annual export price.

COTTON.

The amount of American cotton supplied to foreign countries during 1900 was somewhat less than in the preceding year, the export record being 3,126,225,588 pounds as against 3,787,719,122 pounds for 1899. This was a falling off of 661,493,534 pounds. Owing to an advance in the average yearly export price from 5.5 cents per pound to 7.8 cents per pound, however, the total value of the shipments showed an increase from $210,089,576 in 1899 to $242,988,978 in 1900, making a gain of $32,899,402.

MEAT PRODUCTS.

In the exportation of meat products during the past year there was an increase of $7,072,305 over the exceptionally high figures of 1899, the total value of the consignments sent to foreign markets in 1900 reaching as high as $173,751,471, and thus surpassing all previous records. The value for 1899, which was the highest previously reported, amounted to $166,679,166. The principal gain occurred in the group of articles classed as beef products, the export record for this group in 1900 being 523,288,975 pounds, valued at $42,170,407, as compared with 476,030,644 pounds, valued at $34,087,614, in 1899. The increase amounted to 47,258,331 pounds in quantity and $8,082,793 in value. Fresh beef contributed the chief part of this gain.

In the exports of hog products, on the other hand, there was a falling off of 140,241,179 pounds as regards quantity, and $3,019,926 as regards value. The shipments of this group of products were recorded at 1,538,024,466 pounds, worth $112,159,417, for 1900, as against 1,678,265,645 pounds, worth $115,179,343, for 1899. Bacon and lard were the principal factors in this decline. The exports of hams showed a rather marked falling off in quantity, but owing to an advance in price, the decrease in total value was small. The shipments of salted or pickled pork exhibited a decline in quantity, while in value there was a slight increase.

Aside from the various hog and beef products mentioned, oleo oil formed the most important item under the head of meat products. The exports of oleo oil for 1900 showed a noticeable increase in both quantity and value.

Lard.—Lard was exported in 1900 to the extent of 661,813,663 pounds, worth $41,939,164. As compared with the shipments for 1899, recorded at 711,259,851 pounds, worth $42,208,465, these figures show a decline of 49,446,188 pounds in quantity and $269,301 in value. The average annual export price per pound advanced during the two years from 5.9 cents to 6.3 cents.

Bacon.—The falling off in our exports of bacon for 1900 as compared with 1899 amounted in quantity to 50,497,751 pounds, and in value to $2,581,152. The record for 1900 was 512,153,729 pounds, worth $38,975,915, while that for 1899 reached 562,651,480 pounds, worth $41,557,067. In the average annual export price there was an advance from 7.4 cents per pound to 7.6 cents per pound.

Hams.—In the quantity of hams exported there was a decline from 225,846,750 pounds during 1899 to 196,414,412 pounds during 1900, making a loss of 29,432,338 pounds. Notwithstanding this marked decrease in the volume of the exports, an advance from 9.2 cents to 10.4 cents per pound in the average annual price prevented any considerable falling off in the total value, the record for 1900 being $20,416,367, or only $357,717 less than the value for 1899, reported at $20,774,084.

Salted or pickled pork.—The exports of salted or pickled pork amounted to 133,199,683 pounds, worth $8,243,797, in 1900, as against 137,197,200 pounds, worth $7,917,066, in 1899. These figures show a falling off of 3,997,517 pounds as regards quantity and an increase of $326,731 as regards value. In the average annual export price there was an advance during the two years from 5.8 cents to 6.2 cents per pound.

Fresh beef.—The growth of our export trade in fresh beef during 1900 was an important one, the shipments for that year amounting to 329,078,609 pounds as compared with only 282,139,974 pounds for the year before. This was a gain of 46,938,635 pounds. In value there was an advance during the two years from $23,545,185 to $29,643,830, making a gain of $6,098,645. The average annual export price per pound was quoted at 9 cents for 1900, while in 1899 it was only 8.3 cents.

Oleo oil.—In the exportation of oleo oil there was an increase from 142,390,492 pounds, worth $9,183,659, in 1899, to 146,739,681 pounds, worth $10,503,856, in 1900. The gain in quantity amounted to 4,349,189 pounds and that in value to $1,320,197. The average annual export price per pound rose from 6.4 cents to 7.2 cents.

LIVE ANIMALS.

Our exports of live stock of various kinds during 1900 amounted in total value to $43,585,031, exceeding by $5,704,115 the figures for 1899, which were recorded at $37,880,916.

Cattle.—Of American cattle 397,286 head were sent abroad last year, or 7,796 head in excess of the shipments for 1899, which amounted to 389,490 head. The value of the cattle exported increased during the two years from $30,516,833 to $30,635,153, a gain of $118,320. In 1899 the average export price per head was $78.35, and in 1900 $77.11.

Horses.—The number of American horses shipped to foreign countries during 1900 was 64,722, while in 1899 it was only 45,778. Accompanying this gain of 18,944 in number, there was an increase of $2,168,274 in value, the total export valuation advancing during the two years from $5,444,342 to $7,612,616. The average export price per head amounted to $118.93 for 1899 and to $117.62 for 1900.

TOBACCO.

Tobacco in its various unmanufactured forms, including stems and trimmings, was exported during 1900 to the value of $29,422,371, showing a gain of $3,955,153 over the figures for 1899, which were recorded at $25,467,218.

Leaf tobacco.—Of leaf tobacco, which was the principal item, there were exports amounting in 1900 to 334,604,210 pounds, worth $29,163,086, as compared with only 272,421,295 pounds, worth $25,170,771, in 1899. The quantity of the exports was increased by 62,182,915 pounds and their value by $3,992,315. In the average annual export price per pound there was a decline from 9.2 cents to 8.7 cents.

OIL CAKE AND OIL-CAKE MEAL.

The exports of oil cake and oil-cake meal for 1900, amounting to 1,631,723,300 pounds, worth $16,806,302, were the largest on record, exceeding by 62,630,167 pounds in quantity and $2,257,537 in value the exceptionally high figures of 1899, during which year 1,569,093,133 pounds, worth $14,548,765, were exported. In the average annual export price per pound there was an advance from 0.9 cent to 1 cent.

VEGETABLE OILS.

The total value of the vegetable oils exported during 1900 reached $16,345,056, or $2,535,721 in excess of the preceding year's value, recorded at $13,809,335. The principal item under this head was cotton-seed oil.

Cotton-seed oil.—In the exports of cotton-seed oil, amounting during 1900 to 46,902,390 gallons, there was a falling off of 3,724,829 gallons as compared with 50,627,219 gallons shipped the year before, but owing to an advance from 23.9 cents to 30.1 cents in the average annual export price per gallon, the total value of the shipments increased during the two years from $12,077,519 to $14,127,538, showing a gain of $2,050,019.

FRUITS AND NUTS.

In the exportation of fruits and nuts there was a decided growth during 1900, the total value of the shipments for that year amounting to $11,642,662, as compared with only $7,897,485 for the year before. This was a gain of $3,745,177. Fruits formed the principal part of this item, having a value of $7,757,235 in 1899 and one of $11,486,172 in 1900. In the export value of fruits alone there was an increase amounting to $3,728,937.

DAIRY PRODUCTS.

A considerable increase also occurred during the past year in our total exports of dairy products. The value of these exports as recorded for 1900 was $9,226,520. This was a gain of $1,597,309 over the value for the preceding year, which came to only $7,629,211.

Cheese.—Of cheese there were shipments during 1900 to the extent of 48,419,353 pounds, worth $4,943,609. Compared with only 38,198,753 pounds, worth $3,316,049, for the year before, these figures show a gain of 10,220,600 pounds in quantity and $1,627,560 in value. The average annual export price advanced from 8.7 cents per pound to 10.2 cents per pound.

Butter.—In the exports of butter, on the other hand, there was a slight falling off during 1900. The shipments for that year amounted to only 18,266,371 pounds, valued at $3,143,509, as against 20,247,997 pounds, valued at $3,263,951, for 1899. The quantity exported declined 1,981,626 pounds and the value $120,442. In the average annual export price per pound there was an advance from 16.1 cents to 17.2 cents.

SEEDS.

Our exports of seeds for 1900 had a total value of $7,036,982, or $1,957,586 above the figures for 1899, which were recorded at $5,079,396. The increase was due chiefly to larger exports of clover seed and flaxseed.

TABLE OF LEADING AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS.

The table given below enumerates in the order of their importance such of the agricultural exports for 1900 as had a valuation exceeding $1,000,000, and states the quantity and value exported in that year and in the year before, together with the amount of increase or decrease. Of the 44 items covered by the table 33 exhibit a gain in value for 1900, while 11 exhibit a decline. The table is as follows:

FOREIGN TRADE IN AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS, 1891-1900. 19

AGRICULTURAL IMPORTS AND EXPORTS CLASSIFIED AS ANIMAL MATTER AND VEGETABLE MATTER.

As a convenient basis of classification the various articles comprising our agricultural imports and exports may be grouped under two general heads—animal matter and vegetable matter.

20 FOREIGN TRADE IN AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS, 1891-1900.

AGRICULTURAL IMPORTS.

The relative standing of these two categories in our agricultural imports during each fiscal year from 1891 to 1900, inclusive, is shown by the following statement:

AGRICULTURAL IMPORTS AND EXPORTS IN DETAIL.

A detailed statement of the agricultural imports¹ and exports of the United States during each fiscal year from 1891 to 1900, inclusive, embracing all such commodities as may reasonably be classed in the agricultural category, is presented in the following tables:

Agricultural imports of the United States during the five years ended June 30, 1895.
